KNIGHTS TEMPLAR IN KERENS CHURCH

DR. S. P. BROOKS, PRESIDENT BAYLOR UNIVERSITY, DE-LIVERS SERMON

Special to the Sun. Kerens, Texas, April 5.—Bertrand du Guesclin Commandery No. 14, Knight Templar of Corsicana, worshipped at the First Baptist Church here Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock hour, with Doctor Samuel Palmer Brooks, President of Baylor University of Waco, Texas, delivering the principal ad-members of the Corsicana Commandery and of the Order of and four children.

A. Cockern. Selecting for his bill Parrish, Bill Rogers, Ards Hottheme, "The Fellowship of Jesus," loway, Owen Elliott, Fulwood Boyd, Doctor Brooks launched at once into a discussion of the personality of the Christ, prefacing his main Joseph Kibburn, Ewell Bingham, of the Christ, prefacing his main Joseph Kibburn, Chas. Smith address by the remark that fellow- Elliott Johnston, Chasship or fraternity was a matter of Philip Fawcett, Jack Mann. the spirit, and not of the flesh. A man may extend his hand to another with the grasp of friendship, said the speaker, but that is not said the speaker, but that is not true fellowship. Rather than this real fellowship is a connecting of spirits. When looking at me you see not my personality. You merely see my body.

"The spirit of God is everywhere. It is here now, it is at the site of the fartherest star or planet. The spirit of God is not a special thing It does not occupy space in the sence as does a book or does a box. But it is everywhere at the same time. It is with us always; it is within our hearts. "I think that Christ was sent to this world for the reason that the Father saw that the human family was looking for a King in the image of man. To fulfill that longing, He merely came to earth as a man, and lived like a King. When I read in the Book that God created man in his own image, I do not believe that I look like God, or that I am like God, except that He gave me His Spirit, and it is with me always.

The only thing to which the Love of God can be likened is a mother's love. It is everywhere. The difference is that while a mother may sometimes not know where her child is, God knows at all times where his children are.

A glorious thing about the Spirit of Christ is his influence. He lives within us, and by our actions we should show that we trust in Him and believe in Him. Patriotism is shown by a love and adoration for one's own country. Likewise Christianity, and I might add, true Templarism is shown by the fidelity and consistency with which we follow the teachings of the Master and our Order. Let us think whether, we so live each day that it can or, we so live each day that it can be said that we are truly Christians or Knights. Today all of these people have caught us in our uniforms and regalia. They know for what we stand. I wonder if they would know as readily and as easily our real standards if they would most us in the ordinary. should meet us in the ordinary walks of life, in our everyday dealings with mankind.

"The spirit of Christ gives us a faith by which we may look beyond the grave. This body which we now occupy will some day be laid away. But not our spirits. The mere form in which we live will decay, but our real selves, our real personalities will live forever, and the faith which Christianity gives, and which is so nobly exemplified in the teachings of our Order, gives us a tie with those beyond the

Following the services at the church, the visiting Knights were the guests of their Kerens companions at a dinner served at the Kerens Hotel. Covers were laid for over one hundred. The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. W. A. Corkern, who spoke of the pleasure experienced by the entire citizenship of Kerens by the visit of the Corsicana Commandery. The address of welcome was responded to by Chris. L. Knox of Corsicana, Past Commander of the du Guesclin Commandery. During the meal music was furnished by an orchestra of Kerens musicians. William M. Huff of Corsicana, Commander of the Knights, presided. Among those registered were the

Never did the world need the es disheartens. We are told, if we listen to their lamentations, that religion has failed, that the plain, homely virtues of faith and loving kindness and mercy as between men and their fellows are dead or inoperative, and in this vale of tears the mourners are the most sensible of mortals, since there is no reason to rejoice in anything we hear or see.

To such an attitude of mind Easter comes as a shining and a beautiful refutation, served merely as the commemoration of a triumph over the grave, victory over death nineteen centuries ago. It stands for the glory and the power of a resurrection here and now—of a impulse, to remember the chil re-birth day, of the springing of confident tomorrow." The meaning of the festival is not to be confined with the ceremony of any sect or any ritual. It cannot all be told in music or in flowers or in the wings and fire of the most eloquent of sermons. It is not all in the glow of the hour of prayer and praise and song. It goes far deeper than words can utler; it reaches the deepest of the truths we know, at the very heart of our human lives, in their need of that which is higher than ourselves, and in their aspirations toward that which is truly eternal. not that of Christ alone on which this day insists forever. It is in your power and mine to cast off what is of the earth earthy, that holds us down to the mundane and doin and light, the upspringing joy of the emancipation of the soul of the backward look and the unprof-It is, instead the time for the looking and thinking and acting beyond and away from ourselves.

As in the solemn and beautiful jubilee we consider the lilies, and hear the music, and feel the inspiration of the sermon and enter into the radiance and the rupture of the morning, let us take thought how we may impart to other lives and bring to other hearts the joy we feel, knowing that as we are ministered unto it is our duty to minister and to spread abroad the message of the Eastertide to a world that needs all the cheer that any has to give.

SUNSHINE AND SPRING

Following thirty days of rain, made her departure and the bright sunshine and rising temperature of April is being received with much rejoicing. Ideal Easter weath er is promised which will be very much appreciated by the fair sex as for a time it looked as if the new finery of Spring would have to be discarded for heavier clothing of winter. Indications are that the regulation Easter parade of Spring finery will take place as scheduled with a stage setting of sea blue sky, fringed with a horder of green growing things, an atmosphere heavy with the sweet fragrance of blooming flowers, all basking in the rays of a brilliant and life

Little Girl Writes Essay on Spring

A story of "Spring," written by a six-yearold girl, Winona Lively, daughter of Mr. T. A. Lively, teacher of the Eureka school. Winon:

Spring.
Spring will soon be here. The sun will shine so warm and bright. Then the green grass and flowers will spring up in the meadow. The trees will put on their leaves, birds will sing and build nests in the tall tree tops.

Soon all schools will be closed and little children will romp about over the green field and gather wild flowers. The farmers will plow the ground and plant crops, while the cows, morses and sheep will graze in the warm sunshine. Winter will soon be gone and we shall all be happy. (Published by her teacher, Pearl Stewart.)
